Preconference Workshop Presentation, Thursday, October 1, 2009

“What Every Administrator Needs to Know about Creating a Positive School Climate through Effective School Discipline.”

Larry Thompson, Hesston High School Principal, Creator of Effective School Discipline, Hesston, Kansas

Effective school discipline is a program that is growing in popularity across the nation. It is simple, realistic and can be implemented in any school. This program helps teachers and administrators create a system centered around consistent approaches that will change the culture of your school and improve your students' performance as well as make the building a more positive place to be. It has seen great success in K-12 regular education and special education. This program is a systematic way to help kids become more responsible and schools more successful. This is something every administrator can use to help improve the school environment and get consistency for all kids.
